

CITATION AT THE PRESENTATION OF THE PAUL HARRISON AWARD - 1982

“Academic Excellence, Research and Service to humanity – the greatest of those is Service”.

The Paul Harrison Award is given to a former student of this Institution for help and encouragement in his/her practice in the art of healing in the rural areas.

Two young graduates – an husband and wife team-since their graduation from this College have been serving meritoriously for the last 16 years among the rural population of Bidar in the northern districts of Karnataka. Starting from almost nothing and fighting against many odds these pioneers worked with faith and determination giving health care and the gospel to a population of nearly 30,000. Comprehensive health care of the people together with significant efforts to improve their educational and socio economic status have been their mission. In recognition of their faith, fortitude and singleness for the uplift of our fellow men in Karnataka and passing on the torch of the alma-mater.

I have the honour to present to you sir.

Dr.Christopher Salins and Dr.(Mrs.)Sushila Salins for the Paul Harrison Award of 1982.
